

Every Trip Has A Story

◀ This is your character in a transportation story.

The attached map shows your character's neighborhood and all of the places they need to go today.

Looking at this map, try to imagine...

What is your character's name? _____

Who are they? _____

Where do they need to go today? _____

Where should they go first? _____

Where should they go last? _____

Where on the map can they go by bus? (Look for the bus stops.)

Where on the map can they safely go on foot? (Look for the light gray sidewalks alongside the roads and for the bold white crosswalks.) _____

Draw out the route for their whole day on the map. You can use different colors to indicate different transportation modes. There is space to take notes about their transportation story on the back.
